COMPOSER IS BOOKED
FOR OHIO PROGRAM

The composer of "Lay Down Your Arms" and many other songs will appear on the Ohio stage Sunday, Monday and Tuesday to give a program of music.

He is Henry Lange. Much of the lyrics of his songs have been sold to a half million phonograph records and four million sheet copies. Among his other songs and pianos are "Reckless Take Me Home" and "Chopin's."

Cawthorn veteran star of the stage and screen, won't bother about his own future, but will bridge after what happened to him recently. His partner, Frank Craven, another star of stage and screen, gave him a double pump to an opening psychic bid of one heart which was doubled and redoubled. Cawthorn and Craven lost 100 to the 38 tricks—and their shirts.

The White Cockatoo which will appear on the same bill offers Jean Muir and Ricardo Cortez in leading roles with Paul Donnelly, Minna Gombell and Gordon Westcott among the well known supporting stars. The story is a melodramatic murder mystery of the attempts of two young American girls to find a cockatoo finally goner and by a cockatoo finally goner. The killings and other mysterious happenings. It took an expert three weeks to get the white cockatoo to learn the business required for its scenes in the picture.

A full program awaits those who will patronize the Marion theater next week.

There are three double-feature bills and one longer. The last mentioned is "Limehouse Blues" which will be shown Thursday only. Anna May Wong, born in Los Angeles, the daughter of Sam Sin Tsong, a Chinese laundryman, rose to prominence in American films and then went abroad several years ago to become a popular star in German and British made pictures and in stage plays in London. She featured with George Raft and Jean Parker. Raft plays the role of ruler of a notorious half-world Limehouse in London, from which there is no more famous "half world" is the background.

"Death Flies East," with Conrad Nagel—too long absent from the screen—and Florence Rice, and "The Big Stampede," will be shown Sunday and Monday. "Death Flies East" is a mystery drama showing the story. Major James Douglas, an unscrupulous agent, and his
